

DESPERATE DEMOCRATS

Trying to Steal the Seat of State Senator

WHO WAS UNDOUBTEDLY ELECTED

In New York State—The Indecency of the Procedure—The Republican Contestant Dies—Will Have No Effect on the Result—Democratic Supervisors Warned by a Judge—A Shameless Conspiracy.

ALBANY, Nov. 22.—The Democratic conspiracy to steal the Legislature advanced yesterday to the stage of depriving a Republican who was elected an Assemblyman by a plurality of sixty-nine votes, of his certificate of election and the giving of that certificate of election to his Democratic opponent. The Assembly, before this revolutionary action was taken, had a membership of sixty-four Republicans and sixty-four Democrats. In other words, it was a tie and therefore there was a special temptation to the Democratic leaders to falsify the election returns in some one Assembly district. Seventeen days have now passed since the election was held, and ordinarily all the election returns would have been canvassed by this time except in New York. But under orders from Albany the Democratic boards of supervisors of Onondaga, Steuben, Rensselaer, Dutchess and Columbia counties have been kept in session day after day attempting to cut down the vote given for their Republican candidate for the Legislature. This attack has been mainly directed against the Republican candidates for senator, but in several instances Republican assemblymen-elect have been picked out for a most venomous assault upon their titles to office. Finally one Democratic Board of Supervisors, that of Onondaga county, has dared to act against a Republican assemblyman-elect. Although David A. Munro, jr., the Republican candidate in the First assembly district of Onondaga county, had a plurality amounting to sixty-nine votes, it has counted him out and has awarded the certificate to Patrick J. Ryan, Democrat. Apparently thus to rob Mr. Munro of his certificate of election, these supervisors boldly defied Judge Kennedy of the Supreme Court, disregarding orders he had given to them to declare the vote for assemblyman in the First district of Onondaga county precisely as it was cast by the voters. It can be predicted that Judge Kennedy will not thus permit the Supreme Court to be defied, and that Mr. Munro will not submit tamely to being cheated out of his certificate of election.

The death of Gilbert A. Deane, Republican Senator-elect from the Fifteenth district, has not abated the efforts of the Democratic leaders to have Edward Osborne, the Democratic minority candidate for senator, counted in that district. Mr. Deane had seventy-nine plurality, and his election would ordinarily have been acquiesced in as a matter of course. But Governor Hill inspired the Democrats of that senate district to contest the right of Mr. Deane to his certificate. Deputy Attorney General Maynard went to Foughkeepsie and then to Hudson giving advice to the leading Democrats of Columbia and Dutchess counties. The result of this pressure from the outside was that the board of supervisors of Columbia and Dutchess counties began to strain their powers in an effort to reduce Deane's plurality. Mr. Deane anxiously fought these attempts to deprive him of his certificate of election. He was a sick man, but nevertheless he fought hard. At last he was obliged to take to his bed and summon his physician. Friday he died, indirectly a victim of his political opponent's mad desire for office.

But Mr. Deane's death makes no change in the plans of the Democratic leaders here to grab that senate district. Governor-elect Roswell P. Flower, apparently, must be provided with a Democratic senate to confirm his nominations for office, no matter whose political rights are trampled under foot. Mr. Deane's death reduces the number of Republican senators-elect to seventeen. Fourteen Democrats have been elected. Mr. Deane's death, if the certificate of election is awarded to him, creates a vacancy in the senate of 1892, which must be filled by a special election. Attorney-General Tabor, when asked to-day the legal consequences of Dr. Deane's death, replied:

"Mr. Deane's death has no effect whatever upon the canvass by the state board, and he is just as much of a factor dead as he would be living, so far as the state board of canvassers are concerned. If Mr. Deane has plurality in the district, the board of canvassers must declare him elected. The governor, taking cognizance of the death, may then order a special election."

"Could not the board of canvassers or the senate declare that as Mr. Deane is dead his opponent is entitled to the seat?"

"No. The senate, in case no special election was held, could proceed to unseat the dead member on the ground of fraudulent voting, but could not for any reason give his seat to Osborne. In short, Mr. Deane dead is as potent in the election as Mr. Deane alive."

Secretary of State Rice said to-day that he doubted if the state board of canvassers would meet before December 15, so that there will be ample time for the courts to act upon the disputed election case of Deane and Osborne.

JUDGE BARNARD'S PLAIN WORDS

The Democratic Supervisors in Dutchess County Warned From the Bench.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Nov. 22.—Senator Gilbert A. Deane died Friday morning at his home in Copake. The immediate cause of his death was neuralgia of the heart, but the malady which proved fatal was greatly accelerated by the underhanded attempts to steal his seat when he was made by David B. Hill and his followers, led by Samuel J. Tilden, Jr., of Columbia county, and J. W. Hinckley, of Dutchess county. The cold-blooded manner in which these men and their followers kept up their vicious efforts to steal the seat even while Mr. Deane was on his death bed, and the more heartless continuation of those efforts to-day, have completely disgusted scores of decent Democrats in the counties comprising the senate district, and they are advising the Democratic members of the Board of Supervisors of this county, on the ground of common decency alone, to stop the proceedings as quickly as possible. But appeals of this sort have no effect upon men of the stamp of Samuel J. Tilden, jr., and "Jim" Hinckley, nor upon their more degraded and plant tools, E. Wright, Vall, Dr. Tanner, John J. Myled and Edward Sturges, who are running the Democratic side of the fight to capture the seat to which the dead senator was elected. They continued yesterday, with much of their customary boldness and audacity, their efforts to carry out the plot which David B. Hill inspired.

Although Senator Deane is dead, Edward B. Osborne will not occupy the seat and vote as David B. Hill directs on the organization of the Senate. The governor-senator has at last run against an impassable barrier to the consummation of the fraud which he attempted, in the person of an honest, fair-minded Democratic judge of the Supreme Court. David B. Hill evidently thought that he owned the judiciary of the state, as Tammany Hall is credited with owning it in the city of New York, else through his deputy attorney general he would not have put the Democratic members of the Dutchess county board of supervisors and their attorney in the sorry plight that he did when they went before Judge Barnard this morning to hear his decision on the application of the Republican attorneys for a mandamus to compel the board to count the returns from the town of Dover as they were returned by the inspectors of election. Although the judge would not grant the mandamus asked for, it was only because he thought that the application for it was premature. He wanted to give the members of the board ample time to correct all of their misdeeds, but he told the Democrats and their attorney that they had no power to count ballots which were not considered in the report of the inspectors, and that they had no power to go behind the face of the returns. He added, however, that he would stand ready to grant the mandamus if the board should attempt to adjourn finally without canvassing the votes in accordance with the returns as they were filed by the election inspectors with the county clerk. This case, he told them, was the one in which the Democratic majority of the board of county canvassers arbitrarily counted the six votes illegally voted in the town of Dover for the Democratic ticket, although there was no evidence that they were cast for the Democratic candidates, and the ballots were destroyed at the close of the election. There is no evidence as to their real character except vague and contradictory statements of different bystanders at the election. In conclusion, Judge Barnard said that the supervisors in canvassing the vote had no right to resort to any evidence as to the nature of the ballots cast except the returns of the inspectors of election; that they have no right whatever to modify those returns by any extrinsic statements or evidence. He further said that their duties were purely ministerial, and that any error or violation of duty by them in the canvass or in their determinations can be reached and corrected by mandamus, under the laws of 1880.

THE UNIONTOWN BRANCH

Of the Baltimore & Ohio to be Extended to Morgantown.

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 22.—President C. E. Mayer, with the officers and directors of the Baltimore & Ohio road, reached Pittsburgh yesterday afternoon on the annual inspection tour. They registered at the Monongahela house, and will go over the Pittsburgh & Western and Akron branch to-morrow. President Mayer claimed that he was tired and refused to talk, as did the other officials. On this trip it will be decided what is best to be done to make the main line through Pittsburgh equal to the traffic. One of the directors said the Pittsburgh & Connellsville road to Cumberland would be greatly improved, and another track on the mountain division is among the possibilities. There are two tracks to Connellsville, but the line has all it can do at present to handle the traffic offered. Running the Western freight out over this end of the road will make the business very heavy and more facilities will be needed. One of the plans suggested when the Pittsburgh & Western was purchased was to build a passenger depot at Laughlin and have a dummy meet the main line trains. The men on the Pittsburgh division don't like the scheme.

They claim it would virtually be abandoning the Pittsburgh depot. This is one of the problems that must be solved, and from present indications the management will likely decide to run the passenger trains into the city. Some time will be lost in Pittsburgh and Allegheny, but neither place will put up with an unsatisfactory service. The rolling stock on the Pittsburgh & Western is to be increased. The master car builder has been looking over this end of the system, and a number of locomotives and new cars will be ordered. The Uniontown branch will be extended to Morgantown next summer. It is expected the road will be finished by the coming fall. This will connect Pittsburgh with the Camden system of railroads in West Virginia, and will be a big boon to the Morgantown people.
